Name your beneficiaries

Your beneficiaries are the people you want us to pay if you die. This can be anyone you want. And you can change them whenever you need to.

It's important to name beneficiaries for your life and AD&D benefits. This makes sure your benefits go to the right people.

- Your primary beneficiaries are first in line. If you die, we'll pay them the amount you set.
- But if they die before you, your secondary beneficiaries are next in line. Think of them as your backup plan.
- You can add more than 1 primary or secondary beneficiaries, but the total in each category must equal 100%.
